HOGWARTS UNDERGOES MYSTERIOUS TRANSFORMATION!

In a revolutionary advancement in magical communication, Hogwarts Administration has introduced a new system allowing students to choose which official notices they receive.

Students may now register for specific announcements including castle maintenance, development news, community notices, school events, and roleplay activities.

The system was reportedly developed following numerous complaints about excessive owl deliveries.

The Unfortunate Consequence of a Transfiguration Ingredient.

A routine brewing exercise took an unfortunate turn yesterday when an unidentified student allegedly confused powdered moonstone with ordinary baking flour.

The resulting potion produced a thick cloud of violet smoke, caused several cauldrons to sing in harmony, and temporarily turned a classroom chair into a rather irritated goose. The professor has declined to comment. The goose has reportedly requested a transfer to Hufflepuff.
